

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

LIMOGES GOSPEL FIGURES. LIFE OF CHRIST IN 30
 SECOND HALF OF THE TWELFTH CENTURY BY AN ARTIST
 BELONGING TO THE ABBEY OF S. MARTIAL OF LIMOGES.

Small folio, 16 leaves of vellum, bound as a volume in brown morocco, lined with crimson morocco, the lining decorated with inlaid patterns of curves, interlacements, and figures, the chef-d'œuvre of the Parisian binder Lortic; enclosed in an outer brown morocco case About A.D. 1160-70 750 0 0

A celebrated set of pictures which were reproduced (but not in colour) at Paris in 1879, in a volume entitled, "Exposition Internationale de 1878. Histoire de Jesus Christ en figures."—They were formerly in the possession of Count Bastard, who has given, in his great work on MSS., two facsimiles from the splendid pages of this Life of Christ. The book afterwards belonged to Firmin-Didot. The intitulation Vie de Jesus Christ, and the name "Henry Martin" (written on the first blank page in a hand of about the year 1700) attest an earlier ownership.

M. Delisle has identified the artistic work of these sixteen leaves as having been performed in the Abbey of St. Martial at Limoges at an epoch which he describes as "the end of the twelfth century." He assumes that they formed part of a Gospel-book and has therefore approved of the designation usually given: "Evangiles de St. Martin de Limoges." It is difficult to agree with his estimate of the age of the book which seems rather to belong in type to the earlier than the later half of the twelfth century; although there are indications in the costume and the armour that the greater part of that century was gone.

Each of the thirty Miniatures is framed within a different border, all of these borders being however alike in character and colour: blue, green, red and white, and all describable as floral arabesques. The Miniatures are painted in red, pink, green, light blue, dark blue, white, black, upon a ground of burnished gold. The figures of warriors are in chain mail with long triangular shields. The conical helmets have nosepieces, the hauberks hardly reach the knees of the warriors. In the figures of the apostles, the feet are bare, under twined wrappings that cover the leg.

The art of Southern France (or rather Aquitaine, then under the dominion of Henry II of England) in the second half of the twelfth century, is represented by a striking and precious example in this set of pictures. The designs are varied, elaborate, and full of vigour; the figures of much larger size than one usually meets with; the colours are vivid and peculiar, reminiscent rather of English than of French style.

A pretty book, written somewhere between Utrecht and Maestricht, and furnishing a good example of Netherlandish work about the middle of the fifteenth century.—On the binding (which was executed about 1480) a legend is stamped: Mater dei me memo. This seems to be intended for the well known phrase "Mater dei memento mei."

12mo. FINE MANUSCRIPT, WRITTEN IN SILVER GOTHIC LETTERS UPON BLACK VELLUM, with INITIALS, HEADINGS, AND BORDERS IN GOLD; bound in purple morocco extra, gilt edges 1458 50 0

A curious and beautiful volume, written evidently between June and September, 1458, for Maria of Castille, widow of Alfonso V of Aragon, who was the first of the Aragonese Kings of Naples, and who was called the Wise or the Magnanimous. The Queen (a daughter of Enrique III of Castille) married Alfonso of Aragon in 1415 and out-lived him by three months. It seems probable that this prayer book was not executed for her in his lifetime, but begun immediately after his death and written upon black vellum in token of mourning. The arms of Castille and Leon are emblazoned in the border of the first page of text.

It came at a later day into the possession of the famous Bishop Palafox who presented it in 1656 "como cosa de inestimable valor" to the Cardinal Archbishop of Toledo. This is attested by an inscription painted in white in that year upon the last page; from which we learn that the book had belonged to Doña Maria. Otherwise, one might have been tempted to attribute the first ownership to the great Queen Ysabel (about 1475); notwithstanding that the borders are decorated in a style which was popular in France and Flanders about 1450-60.

- 4 HORÆ B. V. M. (use of Rouen ?)

Small 4to. A BEAUTIFUL ILLUMINATED MS. UPON VELLUM, with 14 large and 24 small MINIATURES; every page decorated with a bright border of flowers and leaves; in remarkably fresh and fine condition; red morocco extra, in an olive morocco case Written in Normandy about 1460 100 0

The first large Miniature represents St. James in the habit of a pilgrim, and, kneeling at his feet, a beardless young man in black robes. The latter is undoubtedly a portrait of the personage for whom the book was illuminated, and his escutcheon is painted in the border on the same page: gules, a dragon or, with a bordure azure bearing 13 besants or. From the Saints in the Calendar and Litany, we may easily conjecture that the book is a Norman one, and that it was produced in Rouen. It is an admirable example of the brilliant work performed by illuminators and calligraphers in that city.

Small 8vo. A SPLENDIDLY ILLUMINATED MS.
ON VELLUM, with 21 FULL-PAGE MINIATURES BY AN ARTIST OF THE SCHOOL OF TOURS; bound in old red leather; enclosed in an olive morocco case

About 1485 200 0 0

A volume of wholly exceptional character in the style and finish of its Miniatures with their delicate landscape-backgrounds. These illustrations are declared by M. Durrien, the Conservateur-adjoint au Musée du Louvre, to bear a close resemblance to the pictures in the famous Heures de Louis de Laval in the Bibliothèque Nationale, and he alleges that the same artists must have worked both books.

These Miniatures are as follows:—1. St. John at Patmos, hills, waters, and towers in the background; 2. St. Luke painting, a design of remarkable power and skill; 3. St. John transcribing, an angel upholding the original; 4. St. Mark comparing text and copy; 5. The Nativity; 6. The Warning to the Shepherds; 7. Adoration of the three Kings, a dark body of horsemen in the middle distance; 8. Presentation in the Temple, a grand cathedral-interior with numerous figures; 9. Christ among the Doctors; 10. Entry into Jerusalem, a picture with many figures and a fine landscape, an escutcheon above the city-gate; 11. The Kiss of Judas, a dark torch-lighted picture, with a great number of figures; 12. Christ brought before the High Priest, an interior with about twenty figures, outside can be seen houses and the heads of a large crowd gazing in; 13. Christ scourged, a cathedral interior, with nine figures, powerfully painted; 14. Christ bearing the Cross, a landscape with numerous figures, a great crowd on the hill-top in the distance; 15. The Crucifixion, with a large number of spectators, a peculiar rendering of the darkness above the horizon; 16. The Descent from the Cross; 17. The Entombment, with several figures, a view of Calvary and the Crosses in the distance; 18. Descent of the Holy Ghost, a dark cathedral interior with twenty five figures, lighted up by the radiance from the Dove; 19. David cutting off Goliath's head, with a varied landscape of hills, and towers, and green fields, two hostile armies in the middle distance; 20. The Raising of Lazarus, with a landscape background, a great number of figures in the foreground and a crowd in the middle distance; 21. Christ arising from the tomb and supported by angels, addressing a kneeling figure which represents the first owner of the volume, behind whom a Bishop (the name-saint probably) is standing.

Altogether, this is a MS. of a special and beautiful kind, very seldom to be found. It appears to have been carried into Italy at the time of Louis XII's invasion, and to have remained there till the other day.

; HORÆ B. V. M. (use of Langres).

Small 4to. FINE MS. ON VELLUM, richly illuminated with numerous borders and initials, and containing six large MINIATURES with landscape backgrounds; in an old French red morocco binding (executed in Paris about 1630-40)

About 1485 36 0 0

This volume is in very fine condition; having all the original brightness of the colouring and illumination. The borders are floral and are partially painted on gold grounds. On the reverse of leaf 29 we find a rubric: Incipiunt Hore beatissime Virginis Marie secundum usum Lingonensis dyocesis.

† PRAYERBOOK of the wife or sister of DON JUAN MANUEL, descendant of the famous Juan Manuel who wrote the Conde Lucanor. OFFICIUM BTE MARIE VIRGINIS secundum usū et consuetudinem Romane Curie . .

Stout small 4to. ILLUMINATED MS. ON VELLUM, with 37 MINIATURES (13 large and 24 small), numerous beautiful borders and half borders, one of them in Flemish style, but all the others rich examples of work in the French style of 1460-70; calf, in wonderfully fresh and fine preservation Salamanca, about 1495 200

The arms painted on the border of the first leaf of the Virgin's Office indicates the royal descents of the family called Manuel, sprung from the Infante Manuel, son of the King St. Ferdinand. From the Infante Manuel came Don Juan Manuel, the famous warrior, writer, and statesman; from him Henrique Manuel (half-brother to Queens of Castile and Portugal), Henrique's son Fernando was father of another Juan and grandfather of the Juan Manuel for whom this book was made. He was high in favour with Ferdinand and Isabel, and Ambassador from Spain at the court of Rome. The escutcheon is paly of three: Aragon, Portugal, and Manuel.

The ornamentation is very rich and splendid. The borders are floral and, in all cases but one, painted on the white vellum. The one exception is the border to the Office of the Passion, which is painted in Flemish style upon a ground of pale gold.—The pictures have this peculiarity, that the Saviour and all the younger characters are painted as having red hair, and the landscape back-grounds look Flemish. The writing is unquestionably by a Spanish hand and the scribe has finished his work with "Salmanticæ scripsi," without however adding his name. Some of the headings are in Castilian, and fifteen pages towards the end contain prayers in that language alone. These prayers afford evidence that the book was written for a lady.

Spanish illuminated MSS. produced in Castile and Leon are much rarer than those which were executed in Aragon, those of the latter sort being usually imitations of Neapolitan work.

Like a Neapolitan MS. which I have recently had, this Castilian one contains the "Officium beate Marie Magdalene compositum a domino Rege Carolo secundo." This King Charles was Charles II of Naples who died in 1309. Both MSS. belonged to Giuseppe Caracciolo, Prince of Torella.

7*BELIAL. Allen Cristen getrewen und recht gelöbigen diedi buwen den gelauben der hailligen Cristenhaitt die sehent oder hörent lesen dises kurtz gedichte Embut priester Jacob von Laramis haill. . . Small folio, MS. on paper, 211 pp. with 66 large coloured designs to illustrate the story; in the original leather binding with brass bosses

Suabia, about 1440-50 27

The illustrations are rough but vigorous, and very striking. In some of them there is remarkable power of design and even execution combined with a primitive rudeness of style. This curious book was always popular amongst the mediæval Germans, and the above MS. is interesting by reason as well of its language as of its drawings. Many phrases and spellings indicate that the book was written in some district where antiquated forms of Middle-high-German still survived.

THE SISTINE MISSAL OF CARDINAL POMPEO COLONNA . . [MISSA IN OCTAVA NATIVITATIS DOMINI ; MISSA IN EPIPHANIA ; MISSA PURIFICATIONIS B.V. MARLÆ].

Folio, A SUPERBLY ILLUMINATED MS. ON VELLUM; in the original binding of smooth red leather, gilt in panels in the Venetian style, and bearing the Colonna insignia in the centrepieces and in the borders

1539 300 0 0

A WONDERFULLY BEAUTIFUL SPECIMEN OF ITALIAN RENAISSANCE WORK, IN THE FINEST AND FRESHEST POSSIBLE CONDITION. It is one of a series of volumes intended to comprise the entire Missal-service of the Sistine Chapel under Popes Clement VII and Paul III; begun about 1530 for Cardinal Pompeo Colonna and not yet completed at his death in 1532. Even the above splendid tome, which came from the illuminator's hand in 1539, would not have been the end of it. Five of the volumes are in Lord Crawford's library, and have been supposed to be the sole remnant of this glorious work of art.

The illuminations consist of 91 large initials, and 272 small ones, some of which are historiated, while others are examples of decorative conception, displaying beautiful floral fancies, or grotesque and mythological figures. The borders of these initials are treated as distinct portions of the ornamentation, but are very lovely in their combinations of form and colour. In the midst of the charming scroll-work, we find here and there little Miniatures of the most exquisite kind, many of them in cameo-style, cherubs, antique masks, and other tokens of the delicate and luxuriant fancy of a Renaissance artist who had been trained in the school of Raphael. The marginal border on fol. xviii encloses the Colonna arms, and bears the date "MDXXXIX. M. Mai. xxi." Upon folio xlv there is a fine Miniature, the largest in the book, of the Presentation in the Temple. The treatment of this picture betrays the hand of a painter of distinguished rank; the masterly composition, the grace of design, and the soft harmonies of colouring, being all delightful to the eye.

Muhammad Jân Kirmâni, A.H. 1024 30 0 0

A beautiful MS. in singularly fine and fresh condition. The binding is slightly damaged, but the book inside is a charming example of that Persic calligraphy and decoration which flourished at the Mogul court under Akbar and Jahangir.

 8vo. A BEAUTIFULLY WRITTEN MS. ON FINE VELLUM, in bold sloped characters approximating rather to Italics than to Roman letters; with some capital letters illuminated in gold and colours; bound (about 1490) in black morocco with blind-tooling of Venetian style, a knotwork cruciform centrepiece within an arabesque border of SS. About 1465 12 12
 The date of 1437 given above is no doubt the year in which Ranucius, usually called Rimicius, performed his work of translation and illustration. It is a useful date as it corrects the opinions of many writers who considered that Rimicius was working after 1450 upon his Aesop. A leaf is wanting at the beginning, and some of the margins are cut away near the end; but the book is nevertheless a beautiful example of calligraphy upon exquisitely fine vellum; and the binding is no less remarkable.

At the top of the last page there is a similar note in Latin, in which the institution is described as the Cistercian Monastery of St. Bartholomew in the diocese of Ferrara. MSS. of the Doctrinale are rare.—At the foot of the first page, beneath the floral border, there is an escutcheon (per pale, fessy and bendy, or and azure) with the initials S I, supported by two cupids. The fresh and original state of this beautiful volume is remarkable. The fly-leaf at the beginning contains a list of the contents written in a charter hand, which is certainly not later than 1250.—On the last page of the book is a fourteenth-century inscription, "Liber sce Marie regalis montis," showing that it was then in the library of the monastery at Royaumont. | Of extreme interest and value although imperfect. It is evidently the work of a French hand and has a number of curious contractions and abbreviations . . A letter like 2 = et, a curved line with a dot above and below it is est, a letter like t stands for in, two short parallel down-strokes, crossed by a horizontal bar = enim; words run together sometimes, and a single word is occasionally broken. | | |

| This was probably part of the library of the Abbey of Pontigny. At the end of the second book, five columns represent the beginning of a third which was apparently not completed. The first words are: Legimus in ecclesiasticis historiis quod Sanctus Bonifacius qui quartus a beato Gregorio Romane urbis episcopatum tenebat, suis precibus a Foca Cesare imperatore impetraret donari ecclesie xpi, templum Rome quod ab antiquis Pantheon antea vocabatur . . | | |

| "A cutting satire against the Republicans during Cromwell's Protectorate." It is in the form of a bookseller's Catalogue giving a list of non-existent works with whimsical titles, these titles containing the satire against the men of the time. 7 JOHN BELET'S CODEX. Sm. folio, MS. ON VELLUM, with coloured decorative initials; bound in old calf About 1170-80 125 0 0

CONTENTS:

1. BECKET'S PASSION. Incipit passio beati thome martyris Cantuariensis Archiepi. Digne fratres karissimi huius diei preclara festiuitas fidelium deuotione frequentata, sollempnis agitur, in qua patris nostri et patrie protectoris, inuictissimi atlethe Thome martyris mors in conspectu Dei efficitur preciosa . .

This is an apparently unknown Legendum; probably of English origin, from the phrase protector patriæ, and possibly anterior to the canonisation in 1173.

2. IOHANNIS BELEHT SUMMA de Ecclesiasticis Officiis . In prima ecclesia prohibitum erat ne quis loqueretur linguis nisi esset qui interpretaretur . . 236 columns

An extremely valuable text, having apparently belonged to Belet himself, as the signature "Ihos belet" appears on the first page of the volume. The date of the book's composition is shown by the author's reference (in his article on the Assumption) to an assertion made by Helisabeth religiosissima mulier adhuc vivens. This St. Elizabeth of Treves died in 1165.—There is no mention of All Souls' day here.

3. LIBELLUS DE VITA ET INTERFECTIONE GLORIOSI COMITIS FLANDRIE KAROLI . . a domino Waltero Morinensis ecclesie archidiacono editus . . 54 columns.

A complete and remarkably early text of a document important for the history of the Low Countries. The original was written about 1150.

4. VITA KAROLI MAGNI REGIS IMPERATORIS EDITA AB EINHARDO ABBATE. Gens Merouingorum de qua Franci reges sibi creare soliti erant . . 32 columns. An early text of a famous chronicle, complete.

5. VITA SCI AUGUSTINI EPI (edita a Posidio Calamēsi epo) Inspirante rerum omnium facto (re) . . 62 columns; followed by Dicta Augustini, 6 columns, and Translatio Augustini, 3 columns.

6. TRANSLATIO S. NICHOLAI. 4 columns.

7. CANTICUM CANTICORUM cum Glossa. 75 columns.

8. Description of the Holy Land by Fretellus, dedicated to H. Bishop of Olmütz, 10 columns, incomplete. (The original was written at Antioch before 1140.)

10. COLLATIO ABBATIS DANIELIS de Concupiscentia Carnis ac Spiritus, 29 columns.

11. COLLATIO ABBATIS SERAPIONIS de octo vitiis principalibus. 39 columns.

13. OMELIE de vitiis et virtutibus. 93 columns, wanting a leaf at end.

14. SEVERUS DE VITA SANCTI MARTINI (in epistolis et dialogis), 148 columns, wanting the last leaf, instead of which we find the last page of Augustinus de Obedientia.

15. LEGENDA DE SCO NICOLAS. 40 columns.

16. VITA SCE MARIE. 13 columns.

17. MIRACLE in favour of Helsinus, Abbot of Ramsey in England, 4 columns.

18. JERONIMUS de captivo monacho, 5 cols. incomplete.

This very valuable and important volume was formerly in the Abbey of Tongerlo, but probably drifted into the library of that house long after its compilation. It may have been transcribed and compiled for John Belet (an Englishman) at Amiens and retained by him so long as he lived. At least Nos. 1-8 of the above list formed a homogeneous whole, and not only the signature on page 1, but also some corrections in various places seem to be autograph. Nos. 9-18 may have been annexed either by him or by a later owner, but even in this division No. 17 indicates an English origin.

Folio, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, 209 leaves, written in double columns in a beautiful small angular (charter) hand, with floreated initials; in russia binding, from the libraries of Heber and Sir Thomas Phillipps About 1430-40 125 0
- This grand English Manuscript is of the author's own time. At the end of the first book there is a note in the handwriting of Richard Reeds recording his possession, and that the book had cost him fifty shillings.
- At the end of the third and beginning of the fourth book, a blank space of two pages is left unwritten on, so that between the last stanza of "Artaxerxes" and the first stanza of "Pausanias," there is a gap indicating either a defect in the original used by the scribe, or else shewing that the book had not been completed by Lydgate.
- 29 [BODLEY (Sir Thomas)] Account of his Negotiations with the States
General in 1594 (1595)-6.
Small folio, beautifully written MS. on paper, 75 pp.; in the original limp vellum wrapper About 1610 3 3
- AN UNPUBLISHED DOCUMENT OF CONSIDERABLE IMPORTANCE. The name of Bodley appears nowhere, but it is evident from his relation that he was the person who wrote this statesmanlike narrative of his mission, in 1595-96, from which he was recalled in the latter year by Lord Burleigh. It does not seem to have come to the knowledge of Motley, and Sir Thomas Phillipps, from whose library this MS. has come, was unaware of the author's name.

signed "C. Bronte," describing the dullness of home and the impending departure of Bramwell. 2 pp. 4to. 8 0

Small folio, FINE MS. ON VELLUM AND PAPER, MIXED, with rubrics; probably wanting one leaf at the end; in the original oak boards covered with damaged whitish leather About 1450 50 0
- One of the best and most interesting copies of the famous Chronicle. MSS. all vary at the end, most of them stopping with the close of the fourteenth century. This one not only includes the reigns of Richard II and the three Henries, but has also the poem on the siege of Rouen by Henry V, which is seldom found in copies of the Chronicle.
- The IN on the first page represents John Nuton Abbat of Battle, appointed to that dignity in 1463. His name appears in several places. On the fly-leaf is the chief inscription: "Istius libelli possessio ex iure debetur venerabili in Xpo patri ac domino Domini Johanni Nuton dei providencia venerandi Monasterii de Bello Rectori ac patri, Angligene gentis Chronice vocati Cuius alienator vel alieni professor Anathema sit q'

Small folio, FINE MS. ON VELLUM, 148 leaves, well written in a clear Gothic cursive, or charter-hand, with rubricated initials and headings; excellently preserved and bound in the original oak boards, re-covered with rusia

About 1450 40 0 0

This MS. is in better preservation than the Battle Abbey copy, but it ends with the early part of the siege of Rouen, and does not record the surrender of the city.

1 BRYDALL (John) A Collection of papers relating to Martial Law, Spoil and Contraband of War, to Duels, Hostages, Ransom, etc. gathered from the authorities and the archives for the use of Sir Robert Southwell and the Government of the time. Folio, MS. on paper; bound in full rusia

About 1690 2 2 0

An extremely curious and interesting collection; not only for its historical and legal bearings, but for the state-reasons which must have caused it to be made. Each paper is endorsed and evidently passed through some kind of post.

Brydall was the Keeper of the State Papers.

WALTER BURLEY. (DE VITA ET MORIBUS PHILOSOPHORUM.) Small folio, MS. on paper, written by an Italian hand in semi-Gothic characters; bds.

About 1430 1 12 0

Evidently used as a school book (which accounts for the deficiency of the first leaf). It first belonged to Fra Bajaso at Piacenza, and afterwards (about 1480) to Fra Alberto at Cremona.

ROBERT BURNS:

- (1) LETTER to "Mr. Findlater, Supervisor, Dumfries", giving him a copy of "the following lines" which "I wrote extempore and anonymous" "to Cardonnel", 4to. 2 pages, entirely in Burns' handwriting Undated (about 1791)

The words begin "Ken ye ought o' Captain Grose ?

Igo et ago !

If he's amang his friends or foes ?

Iram coram dago !"

and run to thirty-two lines.

- (2) A SLIP containing something of the form of the enquiries he had to answer before getting his place as gauger. "Scheme of Expectants. Name . Where instructed . How long idle or employed . Where officiating . Character ? None ! Robert Burns." This is all in his handwriting (1789 ?)

- (3) SONG to CHLORIS . . Twelve lines of amorous verse beginning

"Let others love the ally

And gaudy shew at sunny noon

Gie me the lonely valley

The scented eve and rising moon."

This is on one side of a folio leaf, and on the other is a LIST of 31 "Serious" and 20 "Comic" songs, which he had written (His classification is sometimes queer). Both these pieces entirely in his handwriting (1795 ?)

— United with an autograph note of Captain Grose, a portrait of Burns, a portrait of Grose, and several engravings of Burnsian scenery; and bound in 1 vol. small folio, morocco extra 1791-95 70 0 0

Among other orders are some against excessive drinking and taking tobacco; against keeping greyhounds, shooting; forbidding all idle games within five miles of the University, particularly public shows, enterludes, plays and bull-baiting; competition between the University and the town; copies of various letters patent from King James and King Charles; letters from various bishops, principals of colleges, etc. | 2 | 2 | 0 |
| 39 CANON LAW IN ENGLAND. A COLLECTION OF LATIN TREATISES AND TRACTS, transcribed probably by some jurist at Oxford about the end of the thirteenth century, small 4to. MS. ON VELLUM, 154 leaves; hf. russia
On the margin of one of the leaves, there are three lines of an epistle "matris ecclesie filiis universis" by Philip Bishop of Lincoln, referring to ordinations of vicarages by his predecessor Hugh of Wells, especially in the Lincoln church of Imyngham. This shews that the MS. was probably in Lincolnshire at the beginning of the fifteenth century. | 4 | 0 | 0 |

Bodeken is a little to the south of Paderborn. The condition of this book, and the notes of its origin and date, are not the only recommendation. A fact of interest in the history of printing is noted in monkish rhyme on the last page at the very time of its occurrence:

| 42 CHARLES I. COLLECTION OF SPEECHES MADE IN THE PARLIAMENT OF 1627 TO 1628, sm. folio, MS. written in various hands of that period; calf 1628
This valuable series of speeches was evidently collected by one of the Norfolk members of Parliament. On the back of one is the following superscription: "To his welbeloved cosen Mr. Myles Marsham give these," Miles Marsham being a Norfolk squire of the time. Each piece is endorsed and was evidently despatched separately by some conveyance to the country. | 2 | 10 | 0 |

Although there are no signatures, this was evidently an official copy made for frequent use by the Master of the Wardrobe and his assistants. It is a curious picture of one side of Charles' character. | 4 | 0 | 0 |
| 44 CHARLES I. A DISCOURS OF COURT AND COURTIERs WRITTEN IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD 1633, AND DEDICATED TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE DUKE OF LENOX, small folio, well written MS. on paper, 86 leaves; in the original calf gilt 1633
The preface of this unique work begins, "Having received from the influence of your Grace a most plentiful crop of favo ^{rs} then from any subject living I am tyed with like stringe of correspondent alligacions which leads mee this way to present unto y ^{or} Grace this little discourse of Court and Courtiers, a fitt subject for your princelie eyes, you beinge the chieftest servaunt to his sacred Mat ^{ie} by reason of your blood and the intireness of his affection towards you," etc. etc. Only the initial of the author appears, at the end of the dedication. He professes to write for the glory of the King, and of his highness the Duke, and proves himself a staunch believer in the Right Divine.
The eighteenth-century stamp of the "Medical Society of London" appears upon the title. Written in ink upon the upper cover we discern the words "Dr Langieshe as expressed by Dr. Hart." (This last name is not clear.) | 2 | 2 | 0 |

 In the library of Aloysius de Baroniis in 1749. The paper is of strong and fine fabric; having the mark of a water lily with five petals in its topmost row.
 The names of Bargagli and Landini are suggestive of literary associations and tend to shew that it was written in Tuscany.

We get from them the details of his life before and after marriage, of the settlements made by his father, of his household furniture in all the rooms at Pluckley and Surrenden; the names and the wages of his servants, the particulars of all the weddings and baptisms in the family, the rents of his lands, the names of his wives' gentlewomen, his plate and cooking-utensils, cattle, poultry, etc.
 This MS. affords a curious picture of the life of a Kentish county gentleman in Charles I's earlier time—that particular gentleman being moreover a famous personage in English history.

A most valuable volume to the Devonshire collector, drawn out by some antiquary of the time of Charles II. He drew his description of the arms "out of a Rolle which was borrowed of Mr. Cable, and returned 1666." But he must also have made a tour of the County, as he enters many of the Arms as seen by him in the various churches, etc., and frequently mentions that he has various deeds connected with the different families.

An important and rare text. The text ends on the second line of p. 67, with the word Amen. Then the phrase "Probavit dicens" is followed by five pages of text (plainly transcribed from Bede) giving the disputation as to Easter between Colman and Wilfrid. Then succeeds "Defunctus est autem in monasterio . . ." with the metrical Epitaph from his burial place in Ripon monastery.
This work, composed about the year 1100, has been printed by Mabillon in the Acts of the Benedictine Saints; it ought to be printed among the Monumenta Historica Britannica. MSS. are excessively rare.

- under our signet at Cheyneys . . eleventh daye of Auguste in the twelveth yere of our raigne. £ s.
- A document of thirteen long lines of neat Courthand on an oblong sheet of paper (14 by 9 inches), with one of the finest and boldest extant signatures of the great Queen "Elizabeth R" and a perfect impression of the seal 1570 24 0
- A superb autograph, accompanying a text of historical importance.
- 60 ELIZABETH (Queen). ARCHBISHOP WHITGIFT'S ACCOUNT OF THE QUEEN'S BEHAVIOUR ON HER DEATHBED, in the form of a letter to the Clergy. 4 quarto pages, stitched in a small folio case, bds.
- Puddle Wharfe, 28 March 1603* 2 16
- This is perhaps the only extant copy of the Prelate's missive. It begins "Sir It is his Grace's pleasure that he whose turne it is to preach within that Church on Sunday next should move the Auditorie . ."
- 61 ELIZABETHAN ARMORIAL. A BOOK OF ESCUTCHEONS, CONTAINING 504 SHIELDS, FINELY EMBLAZONED BY SOME HERALD OF THE TIME OF JAMES I, with the names of the Families, and complete index, small 4to. original vellum cover, from the collection of H. Jermyn, with bookplate About 1610 3 3
- A remarkably well executed volume of heraldic bearings. Robert Treswell was perhaps the compiler and emblazoner. Every shield has a name, and to most of them a locality is attached.
- 62 ENGELHARDT (Valentin) INSTITUTIONES MECHANICÆ, oder Practica Geometriæ das ist künstliche Ausmessung aller weiten, breiten, vnd allerhand körperlicher Grösse . . zu Anleitung in die Bücher Euclidis geordnet. Small folio, neat MS. apparently prepared for the press, with a large number of carefully drawn figures and diagrams; bound in old French red morocco extra, gilt edges About 1680 5 0
- The author died between 1580 and 1590. On the back of the title is the "Autoris Epitaphium" in Latin verse by Michael Abelus, a versifier of some renown who died about 1600. This transcript was made about 1670-80 for the purpose of publication, but the book has never been printed.
- 63 ENGLISH CATHOLIC POEMS. POEMS UPON VARIOUS SUBJECTS, ORIGINAL AUTOGRAPH, sm. folio, MANUSCRIPT OF THE TIME OF KING JAMES I, a most curious and interesting collection, believed to be entirely unpublished, half calf 1622 5 5
- The above volume contains Poems, evidently the production of some Catholic. It includes some upon Luther, Calvin, and the reformers, the margins of which are covered with commentaries; letter to a minister, with answer; several poems, entitled the Queen of Angels, Patriarchs, Prophetes, Apostles, Martyrs, Confessors, Virgins, Saints; poems upon the minister that was hangman at Lancaster; upon Prince Charles going to Spain; puritan predestination; on Trigge the preacher; other poems on Luther, Calvin, Melancthon, Bullinger, Calvin's creed, Protestant religion, Protestant dissension, Protestant oath of allegiance; to the King's most excellent Majesty, my dread Sovereign; the Protestant jubilee; on Calvin's death, and various other pieces, evidently the production of a banished Catholic, as he gives an address to his book, beginning—
- Goe on, my booke, get hence and crosse the seas, Leave me behind, untill my soveraigne please.
- Whoever the author was, this is his autograph MS. full of corrections and alterations. It would be a matter of great interest to discover his name and to place him between Southwell and Crashaw.
- 64 ENGLISH POETRY. A COLLECTION OF SONGS, Sonnets, Satires, and Epigrams, made partly at Oxford between 1612 and 1630; small 8vo. neat MSS. 200 pp. chiefly in the handwriting of S. S. of Christ Church; bound in a seventeenth-century calf binding 1612-30 5 10
- This curious volume contains a poem on the beheading of MARY Q. OF SCOTS; the celebrated epitaph on SHAKESPEARE, by BASSE; BEN JONSON'S epitaph on the Countess of PEMBROKE; epitaph on Beaumont the dramatist; Dr. CORBETT'S journey to Oxford, Nottingham, Warwick, Kenilworth, etc., in verse; on the peake of Derby, by BEN JONSON; on Mrs. MALLETT, by Mr. J. SMITH, of Christ Church College, Oxford; pieces on Raleigh etc.; but its real value consists in the original pieces with local bearings written by the author and other Oxford men, mostly from St. John's College and Christ Church.

- ENGLISH POETRY. A COLLECTION of Songs, Sonnets, Satires, Epigrams, made about 1628-30. Small 4to. MS. on paper, 34 pp. closely written (with some Staffordshire memoranda added in 1675); bound in calf 1628-30 5 0 0
- Besides pieces by Donne, Davenant, Corbett, King, Randolph, and others, there are several which are signed Francis Wyrley and Henry Blunt. This latter name probably represents Sir Henry Blount in his University days; and the former was a member of the Staffordshire family to which William and Humfrey Wyrley belonged. Most of the poems signed with these two names are perhaps original. It is to be observed that a poem which was afterwards printed amongst those of Thomas Carew, here bears the name of Philip Massinger.
- Although a note on the fly-leaf states that "Michael Keepis me tenet" in 1636, the volume cannot have passed out of the Wyrley family, since towards the end of the book, several pages (not counted above) are covered with inventories of plate, books, tapestry, and household goods, in 1675-77, at Hamsted Hall (Staffordshire) "delivered to my sister Wyrley."
- ESSEX (Earl of) APOLOGIE (of the Earle of Essex against) those which falslye and maliciously take him to be the only hindraunce of the peace and quyet of his countrye. To Mr. (Anthony Bacon). 24 pp. of writing, and 3 blank leaves 1598 10 0 0
- Perhaps Bacon's or Blount's copy, as we may conjecture from the endorsement "The Earle of Essex Appologie: The Lord Keepers Lettre and his Answer." It seems clear that the blank leaves were left for the purpose of copying out a reply and rejoinder which never came into existence.
- A NOTE OF THE LATE EARLE of Essex his GOODS IN ESSEX HOUSE. With valuations. An official document, 5 pp. (1601)
- AN INVENTORY of sutch stuffe as was remainynge in the chamber called the Lady of Lesters lodgings (and in the warderope, and in other chambers), 16 pp. (1596)
- AN INVENTORY taken this 23 of Aprill 1596 of all the goodes of the Countess of Leicester (mother of Essex) and Sir Christopher Blount (her husband), 5 pp. with a few mems. in the handwriting of Sir Ch. Blount
- Memoranda by Sir C. Blount and others, 1596-7, 3 pp. 1596
- INVENTORIE taken 10 July 1596 of Staffe from Bennington to be delivered at Leicester House. 2 pp. with receipt
- SETTLEMENT OF ACCOUNTS between Ric. Brown, steward of the deceased Earle of Lester, and the Countess (now married to Sir Chr. Blount), 1 page (1596)
- A highly interesting collection of private documents connected with the Earl of Essex. They have probably not been separated since the year in which Essex and his stepfather Blount were executed, and they must have remained in Lady Leicester's hands while she survived.
- 7 ESSEX IN IRELAND. SPEECHES made at the Councill Board by the Lord Keeper, the Lord Treasurer, the Lord Admirall, Mr. Secretary, and the Lord Chief Justice, on the failure of the Earle of Essex's expedition to Ireland, small folio, 33 pp. of MS. on paper; hf. russia 1599 2 16 0
- These speeches are full of interesting particulars concerning the army led by Essex—"a larger and better-equipped one than any with which it had been found necessary to invade France."
- 8 EUCLID AND BOETHIUS. Pa. 2: INCIPIT PROLOGUS IN ARITHMETICAM BOETII . . . Pa. 55: EXPLICIT ARISME'CA BOETIJ AD SYMACUM PATRICIUM . Pa. 58: [EUCLID] PUNCTUS est cuius ps. n̄ ē . . Pa. 278: . . EXPLICIT GEOMETRIA EUCLIDIS CUM COMTO CAMPANI.
- 2 works in 1 vol. small folio, MS. ON VELLUM, with very numerous careful diagrams About 1250-1300 50 0 0
- The Boethius, with its diagrams in green and red, and its plenitude of Arabic numerals, is in double columns, and was written soon after the middle of the thirteenth century.—The Euclid, written so far as the text goes, in large letters, with the commentary in smaller letters on the right, must be set down to the end of the thirteenth century. It contains about 120 diagrams, and is in thirteen books. The text of the translation is that which is ascribed to Adelard of Bath, and was executed early in the twelfth century, when he was studying Greek and Arabic writers in Naples.
- As for the comment of Campanus of Novara, this MS. is sufficient to prove that it was written in the thirteenth century, and that the statements in several biographical dictionaries concerning the author, that he flourished "about 1300" must be corrected. Libri was no doubt right in saying that he was secretary to Pope Urban IV. about 1260.—Such an early and complete MS. of Euclid as the above is hardly to be found outside the public libraries. It formerly belonged to the monastery of St. Martin's at Tournai, and has been mentioned by Antonius Sanderus.

- 69 EUSEBII HISTORIA ECCLESIASTICA. Fol. 1: INCIPIT PFATIO RUFINI PRBI AQLEJENSIS SUP ECCLESIASTICĀ HYSTORIĀ AD CHROMATIŪ PAPAM . . Small folio, fine MS. on vellum, beautifully written in double columns (134 leaves) with numerous coloured initials of which 12 are large decorative designs; old calf About 1170 24 0 0
 The only colours used for the large initials are red and green; these are in a floral style of decoration. In the calligraphy of the text we find occasionally a final S instead of the long letter, but the writing belongs undoubtedly to the twelfth century, and is a beautiful example of its kind.
 On the reverse of the first leaf, upon the lower margin, there was an inscription (by the original scribe) which may have indicated the place of origin. Part of it has been away and nothing remains now but the words "Cervanti benedictio." Whether Cervantus was the name of the scribe, or the patron saint of the monastery, it undoubtedly indicates that the book was written in Spain. It was only in that country that the name of St. Servandus, or Servan of Segovia, was corrupted first into Cervantus, and then into Cervantes. There is a Tower of St. Cervantes at Toledo, according to Mr. Watts.—But for the circumstance above mentioned, one might take the MS. to be of purely French origin.
 The name of the learned Henry Drury is written on the flyleaf.

ON VELLUM, written in double columns, with rubrications; well preserved, in the original binding of wooden boards covered with a rough skin* About 1260 20 0 0
 Two notes on the last page convey an interesting history. The first is "Liber see Marie Regalis Montis," implying that it belonged (about 1260-70) to the Abbey of Royaumont. The second is "Iste liber defuit de armario Domini Regis," written about the same time (1270) and may be read either as recording an actual fact, or as guarding against a possible loss. In either case, it implies that the volume formed part of the royal library of St. Louis.
- 71 FABER (Peter John) THE LATOME (sic) OF UNIVERSALL WISEDOME of All Chymistry . . (translated into English) 4to. neatly written MS. 160 pp. hf. bd. About 1680 2 16 0
 APPARENTLY UNPUBLISHED. The translator's name is not given. It is curious that he used the word Latome instead of the Anatomia of the Latin text which was printed about 1650.
 Pierre Jean Le Fevre wrote his book in 1648, dedicating it to François Vaultier, physician of Marie de Medici.
- 72 BENJAMIN FRANKLIN . . Certificate of election of Major Fred. de Brahm-Triers by the American Philosophical Society; with the signatures of B. Franklin, John Ewing, Wm. White, and Saml. Vaughan; and of five secretaries A document, oblong sm. folio (15½ by 9½ in.) Philadelphia, 1786 2 10 0
- 73 JOHN GARLAND DE CONTEMPTU MUNDI. Fol. 1: Cartula nostra tibi mandat dilecte salutes | Multa videbis ibi si non mea dona refutes . . Smallest 4to. (square 12mo.), MS. ON VELLUM, 20 leaves; old calf About 1310-20 7 10 0
 On page 38, there is a subscription (above the words Explicit contemptus mundi) in seven lines of rough Leonine verse, from which we get the name of the scribe as YARDINUS, a strange form which is nevertheless the writer's own.
 In forty-three lines of prose minutely written on the lower half of p. 38 and the upper half of 39, there is an analysis of the poem in which the author is twice mentioned and the title of the book given as "liber magistri Johannis de Gallandia, qui solet vocari Cartula vel liber de contemptu mundi."
 John Garland was an Englishman of great repute who died in Paris in the twelve-fifties. Roger Bacon was a friend of his.
- 74 GEORGE FRAUNCEYS. DE MEDICINIS. 8vo. MS. ON VELLUM, by an English hand, 47 leaves, beautifully written in double columns; bds. About 1260 8 10 0
 The intitulation, at the top of the first page—"INCIPIT LIBER DE MEDICINIS FRIS GEORGI FRAUNCEYS"—is not in the same handwriting as the text, and may perhaps be erroneous. No trace can be found elsewhere of any English physician of the name—Friar George Francis or Frenchman. On the margin of leaf 21, we get the name of another English physician, Master Symon of Witeby, who is cited for the cure of a cough by means of a mixture compounded of fennel-root, parsley, calamint, hyssop, venus-hairs, marubium, *hore houn*e, figs, reysine, liquiritia. This was added about the year 1290-1300.

Small folio, FINE MS. ON VELLUM, 108 leaves, written in double columns; with painted capitals, and having several curious drawings on the margins; in excellent condition, in the original binding of wooden boards covered with white leather

About 1250 32 0 0

Written in the Abbey of Royaumont (Regalis Mons) near Paris, which was founded by St. Louis in 1227. The rubricator, who was apparently also the illustrator, was an artist of considerable skill and fancy. On leaf 13, he has added a head on the margin in continuation of the ornamental line from the initial P; something similar on leaves 20, 24, 32, 37, 60, 68, 71, 83; on 46 a white griffin rampant on a red roundel; on 49, a rustic preaching or protesting with outstretched finger; on 50, two men carrying a basket slung upon a bar supported on their shoulders, before whom a grotesque dog stands upright; on 56, within a roundel, a green tree or double fleur-de-lis, on one side of which is a warrior with a red shield, in the mail and helmet of the early twelfth century, who strikes with his sword at an upright beast like a grotesque lion, on the other side; on 57, two similar grotesque animals fighting; on 66, another hybrid animal; on 72, a grotesque lion; on 79, a very curious horned dragon with a head at each end, biting his tail; on 92, a fight between a grotesque lion and a rustic whose weapon is a flail with a ball at the end. This last is a striking picture.

4to. FINE MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, 354 leaves in double columns, written in a handsome Italian Gothic letter, with painted initials, two of them historiated with a picture of the author; bound in boards covered with stamped pigskin, at Rebdorff in Bavaria for the Augustinian Monastery of St. John the Baptist

Lombardy, about 1350 10 0 0

An interesting Italian MS.—Bound at Rebdorff late in the fifteenth century and bearing on the flyleaf a note of the ownership, and an intitulation: "Legende Sanctorum Iacobi Ianuensis Lombardi." The end-leaves are parts of a liturgical MS. on vellum written in Germany in the eleventh century.

There is no mark in the volume to identify it with Reading, but it is evidently from the same scriptorium which produced the Gregorius elsewhere described; and it is in the identical covering that was used for them and for all the other Reading Abbey books which came into the possession of James Bowen of Salop about 1748, and were bound for him. This volume contains thirty-nine out of the forty Homilies. | This is supposed to be one of the Pontigny books. It is in a very fine style of calligraphy rather resembling the work of the twelfth than of the thirteenth century; but we cannot place it earlier than the turning point, as the short final s is more frequent than the long one, and the sloped d than the upright. The second book is one of considerable celebrity in Carthusian literature, and has been the subject of much critical disputation as to its authorship. It is clear enough from the present codex that the scribes of Pontigny believed it to be the work of Guido or Guigo, General of the Carthusians, who died in 1137. However, it seems to have been proved by Mabillon that it must have been written some ten years after that date. | | | |

| The last five pages are additional, and contain a story of a marvellous cure performed at Soissons by the Virgin in 1129. They are not in the same hand as the rest of the book, and seem to have been written by a French monk (in Reading Abbey) soon after the date of the book. The text of the Homilies ends on the obverse of the 141st leaf—which according to an ancient numeration ought to be 145. Certainly the first two leaves are deficient. The book is a splendid example of English writing in the twelfth century; and the pen-and-ink sketches above referred to—apparently intended as cartoons for pictures—are forcibly suggestive of the state of English art in the fourteenth. James Bowen owned the volume in 1749 and had it bound. Inside the lower cover, he has caused the binder to insert, as a label, the old fourteenth-century inscription from the original cover—"Hic liber est de monasterio Radyng quem qui alienaverit seu fraudem de eo fecerit anathema sit.  first piece. Apuleius Platonius is the author of the well-known Golden Ass.

 stanzas. Small folio, FINE MS. ON VELLUM, with illuminated initials; in the original oak boards (covered with blue paper in the last century)
 About 1460 48 0 0

EXTREMELY RARE. MSS. of Hoccleve are only to be sought for in great public collections like the British Museum. This volume is not perfect, but is a very fine example of English calligraphy about the middle of the fifteenth century. It has also the peculiarity of being marked with signatures exactly in the style adopted afterwards in printed books. Two leaves are missing at the beginning; the first that is here begins thus—

And whan this stormy nyȝt was overgone
 And day gan in at my wyndowe to prie
 I roos me up for bote fonde I none
 In my unresty bed lenger to lye
 In to the felde I dressed me in hye
 And in my woful herte depe gan wade
 As he that was barein of thouȝtis glade.

There are altogether 528 stanzas of the De Regimine Principum,—the work in which the main particulars of Occeleve's life have to be sought for. On the twenty-seventh leaf, there are stanzas in praise of "mi Maister Chaucer flour of elloquence," and of "my maister Gower."

| 86 HORACE. Horatii Opera (Satyræ, Carmina, Epodon liber, Ars Poetica). Small 4to. MS. ON THE FINEST VELLUM, written in beautiful Roman minuscules, 130 leaves, with 139 illuminated initials, the first page which was superbly decorated with a border, so injured by damp and a rent that its former magnificence is lost; in the original binding, boards covered with calf which is stamped with knot-work About 1475 | 15 | 0 | 0 |
| This book is beautiful and fine upon every page except the first. So much of the border as is still visible shows that it was a charming work of art and that it was executed for a man whose escutcheon (supported by cherubs) was a tiara argent on a field gules. That the damage took place while it belonged to him, we can easily see from the circumstance that the original calligrapher was employed to add an end leaf to the book repeating all the text of the first page. The epigraph on the last page of the text is curious, taken in connexion with the injury to the first leaf:— Qui servare nescit preciosum libris honorem
Illius à manibus sit procul iste liber. | | | |

| A magnificent example of French calligraphy and decoration in the twelfth century. There are twenty-three large initials, of which the first is ten inches long. The colours are bright blue, red, pink, white, and occasionally a little light green; and they are still as fresh and vivid as they were seven centuries ago. The MS. is traditionally believed to have formed a part of the library of the great Cistercian Abbey of Pontigny, near Auxerre, celebrated for having been, about the very time this book was written, the refuge of Thomas Becket.—It was sold by the Abbé Allard to Sir Thomas Phillipps. | | | |

| The initials are similar to those in the preceding commentary on Jeremiah; and one of them is ten inches in height. The ornamental work in both seems to have been done by the one hand, but the writing in each is different. They both came however from the same scriptorium—probably in the Abbey of Pontigny. | | | | respect it might as well pass for a French one. The author's name appears in the last line: Orate pro fratre Huberto ut Deus det ei requiem eternam et cito. At the beginning he says, Would that we, who live under a rule, and who sing by rule, were also regular in our reading! Some pronounce mulieres . . others say mulières . . The treatise ends in the middle of the first column of the eighth leaf. Then follow three and a half columns in a different hand resembling the English current or charter style of the same period. They give lists of words with double senses and similar forms; and shew that the writer (probably Hubert himself) did not see much difference in sound between Scoria and Scholia. One of the last lines of the original treatise draws a distinction between flagrat and fraglat (sic) and a note in red ink says Flo facit ardorem, fra mitem reddit odorem.

A well-preserved example of the early thirteenth century. This is an unpublished work in four books. Book I: Quid noceat Claustralibus; II: Claustri materialis ordinatio; III: Anime Claustrum; IV: Claustrum in Cœlis.
The period of the composition is indicated by the author's reference in the dedication to his election by the Canons of St. Denis with the approval of Samson Archbishop of Rheims. This prelate ruled from 1140 to 1161.
- 92 [HUBERT (Sir Francis)] (LIFE, REIGN, AND FALL OF EDWARD II) Fol. 1: I sing thy sad dissaster (fatal King) | Carnarvan Eduard (second of that name) | Thy minious' pryde, thy states ill managyng | Small 4to. MS. on paper, 193 pp. written in a handsome Elizabethan hand; calf binding, from the library of Sir Thomas Phillipps About 1600 5 0 0
The author was unable to obtain a license to print this epic, until he had made considerable change in it, in 1626-28. Hence the value of copies written before the date of the first impression.

MS. in Italian semi-Gothic characters ON VELLUM; 122 leaves, with a fine historiated initial and border on the first page of text; an illuminated initial on leaf 14; an initial with a curious border figure on leaf 26; another illuminated initial on leaf 36; an historiated initial on leaf 53; another initial on fol. 67; two illuminated initials with one figure, on fol. 74; and a curious outline drawing in a blue initial on fol. 119; bds. About 1320-30 21 0 0
A very rare MS. Ibn Serapion has been considered the first Arabic writer upon medical science. His Breviarium has had a great reputation ever since it was written about a thousand years ago, but it is never seen now. It was in the twelfth century that Gerardus of Carmona (in Spain) translated it from Arabic into Latin.
The artistic work on the first page of text is fine and picturesque. The figure of the author, over three inches in height, stands upon a demon's head, from which the border-stem falls downwards till at the bottom it curls over and encloses a hybrid rabbit-looking animal, while on an extension of the line a yellow bird with brown wings is standing.
The name "Maestro Antonio da Parma" is written on the first page, in a hand of about 1400.

| | A rare and valuable MS., written either in the north of Spain or more probably in the vicinity of Arles in France. The last two leaves are missing, and six leaves of extraneous matter, but contemporary handwriting are added at the beginning.—The nature of the work is such that it necessarily led to the employment of diagrams, circles, tables, rulings, and rubrications to a large extent. One of these illustrations is a table of affinities, the compartments of which present in their whole the shape of a cross. A well-drawn female head and face crowns it, an open hand is appended to the extremity of the transverse, and feet are drawn below. This is all pen-work but striking and effective. The six additional leaves at the beginning are portion of a treatise on the Trinity, with lists of subtle scholastic distinctions. | | | |

- A fine and valuable MS. from the libraries of Dr. Drury and Sir Thomas Phillipps. The preface of Justin, which here occupies the first page, is rarely seen in copies of the work. The name of "Paulus Orlandinus," which is written at the foot of the first page in a hand contemporary with the book, indicates its first possessor. He was probably a Florentine, as we might judge from the style of the floral border printed below his name to enclose the escutcheon (which has been erased).

Hon. Edward Southwell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, small folio, MS.
partly in his own hand, partly in that of a clerk; hf. russia 1718-19 5 1
- He states his reasons for the work as follows:—"The great encrease of London and the Great Improvements thereof in every way. The accomodation of our countrymen and foreigners. To take off the great Idleness of youth who for want of knowing how to employ their time usefully or where best to find out proper Diversions, spend their time in Coffee houses, taverns or worse places," etc. etc. It is a regular guide book and of considerable value for any future Historian of Old London. It mentions all the most important Buildings, Libraries, Cabinets of Engravings, Medals, Intaglia, Paintings; Natural Curiosities; Statues, Hospitals, Schools, Prisons, Marketta, Publick Offices, Societies, Eminent Mathematicians (among them Sir Isaac Newton), Architects, Collectors of Prints and Drawings, Mechanics, Surgeons, Chemists, Botanists,

- Peiver and Flamsteed were still alive when these lists and notes were drawn up, so that we cannot place it later than 1718-19. Among the pieces of information given in the supplementary pages near the end, there is a statement that London (and its suburbs) contained "5000 streets, 12 great squares, near 1,300,000 people."

- In 1 vol. small 4to. MS. ON VELLUM, in various hands; bound in gilt russia About 1200 60 0 0
- A valuable collection of pieces, which have been united in one volume for nearly five hundred years, as appears from the list of contents on the first page.—The appearance in the market of a MS. of William of Malmesbury is an event of rare importance, due to the dispersion of the famous Philipps library.
- In spite of the variety of the hands, they are all of one style and time, and some of the pieces are marvels of fine minute calligraphy. The Palladius is said to have once been in the monastery of Alna or Aulne, near Liège.
- 110 MARBODUS, Bishop of Rennes, † 1123. TREATISE ON PRECIOUS STONES. Fol. 1: Incipit PROLOGUS DE NATURA LAPIDUM . . Fol. 19b: . . Effectus uari procul ambiguo comitatur. Explicit liber Marbodi eps. Rodonësis natura lapidū. An. I. C. M. viii. xii.
- Smallest 4to. MS. ON VELLUM, in a fine Italian Gothic hand, twenty long lines to the page; with painted initials and rubricated headings; cloth boards About 1380-90 2 2 0
- The ambiguous date of composition, given above, was probably intended to signify 1092. This copy of a rare and interesting treatise was undoubtedly written in Italy, to judge from the vellum as well as the handwriting; but late in the fifteenth century it came into the hands of a Frenchman, who copied on the blank leaves at the end, some prayers of St. Augustine, etc.
- The text of Marbodus begins thus: "Evax rex Arabum legitur scripsisse Neroni | Qui post Augustum regnavit in urbe secundus | Quot species lapidum, que nomina queve colores . . The book has therefore been often ascribed to the mythical Evax.

- This pretty prose legend contains a much ampler and older text than the one which Caxton published.
- The deficiency at the beginning represents probably the loss of only half a page.

- A mass of detail which would be useful and valuable to some modern writer on the same subjects. The two volumes, such as they are, represent only the collection of material for projected works, but they are indexed.—Among the separate pieces there is a copy in Northcote's handwriting of Sir Joshua's letter resigning the Presidency of the Academy.

- 113 MARY QUEEN OF SCOTS at St. Germain en Laye, 26 July 1550, and at Amboise, 4 Feb. 1552. HOUSEHOLD ACCOUNTS for the two days, written on two rolls of vellum, and signed by the proper functionaries
1550-52 16 16 0

It is not easy to understand how these two documents escaped from the French archives. They give details of the bread, wine, fish, oil, salt, etc. consumed by the Dauphin (Francis I), the Dukes of Orleans and Angouleme, the King's two daughters, and the little Scots Queen, with their train. The total amount for the one day was 2609 livres, and of the other 236 livres. The menu gives a curious picture of the style of living in which Marie Stuart was brought up.

- 114 MEDICAL MEN. ALEXANDRI MASSARIÆ Vicentini Practicæ Medicæ libri quinque, 12mo. beautifully written MS. on paper, 547 pp.; in gilt vellum binding About 1590 2 10 0 Probably in the holograph of the author. He died in 1598.

- 115 MEDULLA GRAMMATICÆ (Latin-English Dictionary), small folio, MS. on paper, neatly written by an English hand upon Flemish paper; 141 leaves; in the original oaken boards, covered with greyish skin or leather About 1480 40 0 0

Perfect from Aaron to Vespilio. It is a very curious and interesting volume which may be considered to have been the first of its kind. It will be found described in the Promptorium Parvulorum, edited by Albert Way for the Camden Society.

The MS. was apparently written in Nottinghamshire. It belonged about 1480-90 to Edward Lyster, and went afterwards into the hands of Thomas Gwyn, Thomas Spencer of Wormleighton (about 1560), Gamaliel Drake, Thomas Hutchinson of Nottingham, and others, all in the sixteenth century. The first of them has written as follows upon the first page:—

Who so wylle opyne and looke
Thes ys Edward Lysters boke.

Early in the last century it came into the possession of the Medical Society of London, whose stamp is seen on the first page.

The paper-mark is the regular Y and P of the Flemish paper-markers of the middle of the fifteenth century.

- 116 NAMES OF POPISH RECUSANTS CONVICT, and Papists who have registered their Estates . . As the same have been returned by the Clerks of the Peace for the severall Counties to the Commissioners for the Forfeited Estates . .
Small folio, an official transcript from the Commissioners' books, 122 pp. clearly written; sd. (1739-40) 10 0 0

This curious and important document may be regarded as a Dictionary of Catholic land-owners in England at the time. The names of the counties and parishes or mansions are given in all cases, and the yearly value of each property annexed. The total of these yearly values is shown at the end to amount to nearly £387,000.

Small folio, MS. ON FINE VELLUM, 121 leaves, written in four Italian hands, Gothic, semi-Gothic, Roman and semi-Italic; with painted initials; in wooden boards covered with old cloth About 1440 6 6 0
An important text, furnishing a great number of various readings for any modern edition of this grammarian.

A grand book of the eleventh century, which was formerly in Libri's hands and considered by him to be the work of Irish monks in the tenth century. His conjecture was based probably on the interlaced patterns of the initials, and perhaps also on the frequency with which the word et is written in the form of the numeral 7; but it cannot be sustained. The MS. appears to be Southern French or North Italian work of the second half of the eleventh century. The verses at the end of the Origen (which are somewhat later than the book itself) seem to indicate that a certain Leo Judex presented the volume to a house of monks soon after 1100. Red is the dominant colour of the initials, but the use of yellow is also a strong characteristic. The two pictures of St. Paul represent him as red-haired and red-bearded. In the second instance he is seen looking out from inside the ring formed by the letter Q. The tail of the Q is a salmon-shaped fish coloured red, blue and yellow. The two works in the above volume were formerly followed by another of which the title appears in the second column of the last

Small folio, BEAUTIFUL MS. ON VERY WHITE FINE VELLUM, 221 leaves written in double columns, with large painted initials, including three of exceptional size which are SPLENDIDLY ILLUMINATED in gold and colours (blue, white, red, green); in a modern parchment cover

About A.D. 1130-40 63 0 0

A masterpiece of Italian calligraphy in a fine regular Carolingian hand; with uncial headings throughout. The illuminated initials are of great beauty. The I with which the Homilies on Joshua begin is nearly seven and a half inches long. On a blue ground (the blue lightened with white dots in triplets) the gold form of the letter lies, its topmost portion consisting of open interlacements. Further down two compartments of knotwork (white and blue, red and blue) are let into the gold body; and the tail of the letter which curls to the left below is entwined with floral ornament in green and white.

One of the peculiarities of the script is the frequent use of the 7-shaped abbreviation for et. It seems to shew that the influence of Irish teaching had not quite died away in the monastery in which this book was written.

A noble example of the finest French calligraphy of the thirteenth century. The decorative element is supplied by three very large initials painted in red, blue, and green in floral style. The book belonged formerly to the Abbé Allard, and is supposed to have come from the Cistercian Abbey of Pontigny in the diocese of Auxerre founded in 1114.

A memorandum on the last page seems to shew that the book was pledged in 1389. About the same date, it is marked as belonging to Aug. de Raponibus, of the order of Augustinian Hermits. It had cost him two florins.

The paper is remarkably thick and strong; with a mark resembling the Greek epsilon as written in combination in old MSS.

About 1420-30

A collection of considerable importance for the collation of the texts. Paper must have been scarce, as a great many leaves in the book are palimpsest vellum which had been used for some other purpose. The paper-mark is a griffin.—There seem to be three handwritings in the book, but they are all of the same period.

129 OVIDIUS de Arte Amandi, 74 pp.; de remedio Amoris, 36 pp. Small 4to. MS. ON PAPER, 56 leaves in an Italian cursive hand approximating to Italic; the first two leaves wanting, and the first couple of written leaves damaged; calf 2 2 0

At the end of each book we find the scribe's remark: Bellius scripsisset scriptor si voluisset.

(Venice?) about 1470

A charming book. Nothing prettier in the way of calligraphy, combined with interlacing ornament, was produced in Italy in the fifteenth century.—At the end of the Culex, there are two epigrams "in Tuscum" by Bernardinus Cyllenius, the Veronese Latin poet, who was flourishing at the time the MS. was written.

The escutcheon and name (Laurentius de Marzi) which are inserted in the lower part of the border above mentioned, appear to have been added about a hundred years later than the book.

131 PETRI LOMBARDI SENTENTIARUM LIBRI QUATUOR. 12mo. MS. About 1250-60

A good example of the minute calligraphy of the thirteenth century as it was practised in England. The vellum is very thin.

132 PETRI DE RIGA AURORA, i.e. BIBLIA VERSIFICATA. 12mo. (small 8vo.) FINE MS. ON VELLUM, written in a beautiful minute thirteenth-century hand, with rubricated headings and initials; 178 leaves; bound in calf 10 0 0
About 1220

One of the earliest and finest MSS. of this book which have come into the market. It is usually seen in fourteenth-century copies.

The last part of the work contains the Acts of the Apostles, followed by the Acts of St. Denis as a supplement. These are written in rhyme.

The MS. was probably written in the monastery of St. Denis, but in the year 1599 it was presented by a Toulouse bookseller to the Jesuit College at Agen.

A rare MS. in fine condition and beautifully written. It contains eight Comedies: Amphitryo, Asinaria, Captivi, Curculio, Casina, Cistellaria, Epidicus, Aulularia.—The scribe, Pietro Cennini, was a well-known Florentine calligrapher, who a few years later was associated with his father Bernardo in founding the first printing press at Florence. The father died in 1471 after having cut the fount of types with which they produced the Virgilius of 1471-72.
- 136 POEMS OF LORD SURREY AND OTHER WRITERS OF THE SIXTEENTH CENTURY. THE MS. COLLECTIONS OF JOHN HARINGTON (father of Sir John Harington) mostly transcribed about 1560.
Small folio, beautifully written MS. on paper, in various hands, about 140 written pages; in a stamped sixteenth-century binding, rebaked with gilt calf 1558-85 60 0 0
The exact age of the book may be ascertained approximately in the following way. Pp. 158—175 contain a Paraphrase of the Psalms, in Latin verse, by Edmund Campian at Oxford, addressed to Anthony Brown Lord Montacute. Campian quitted Oxford in 1568, Brown died in 1567; and the work itself, unknown elsewhere, can only have been known and transcribed in Oxford in or before 1567. On p. 209, is recorded a death-bed speech of Mr. Dering, a divine of repute who died in Essex in 1575. The particulars given indicate a closeness of time if not of place. Again there is a considerable difference (both of addition, omission, and change) between the pieces by Surrey which are here transcribed, and the text which appeared in the first edition of them in 1557. Thomas Phaer printed in 1558 his translation of the first seven books of the Aeneid. Here we find books 1—3 transcribed, but they vary considerably from the printed text; and it may securely be argued that if the first compilation of this MS. volume was begun about 1558-60, John Harington must have had before him MS. texts of the works chosen earlier than the printed ones. The book begins with a transcript of "Helen to Paris" rendered from Ovid by Sir Thomas Chaloner (who died in 1565)—a piece of which no other copy is known.
On one leaf we find the signatures of "francis Haryngton" and "Ellina Harrington," and on the last leaf that of Elina Harrington alone. They were children of John, and brother and sister of Sir John, and these signatures imply possession about the year 1585 when they were probably both in their teens, and residing with their father at Kelston in Somerset.—In 1663 the book was again in Oxford in the possession of James Tyrrell (the historian); in 1791 it belonged to the Rev. W. Sayle of Howey in Somerset, at the sale of whose library in 1800, it was bought by Thomas Park, having already passed through the hands of Bishop Percy who intended to publish it. Heber bought it for £84, and finally it passed to Sir Thomas Phillipps.

Seventy-five pieces all smoothly and neatly written, from the time of Prince Henry's death down to about the period of Ben Jonson's death in 1637. The address "To my dead friend Ben Johnson" begins

- 138 POETRY. A Curious Collection of Poetry of the Seventeenth Century, together with Culinary and other Recipes, sm. 4to. MS. on paper, in the original calf binding (executed about 1640) 1640-80 4 0
This MS. was formerly in the Dering collection, and is said to be partly autograph of Sir JAS. TYRRELL, the Whig Historian of England about 1650-1680. There are numerous verses on ARABELLA STUART, the Countess of PEMBROKE, Prince HENRY, by Dr. JUXON, the Earl of DORSET, Sir WALTER RALEIGH, FELTON, Sir THOS. OVERBURY, etc., with many amatory and facetious poems.

Thick 8vo. MS. ON VELLUM, in a small but fine and clear hand, with numerous glosses between the lines; purple morocco About 1050 12 12
Probably French writing. Only one page of the preface is wanting at the beginning, but at the end books 15-18 are missing. The Greek quotations are given in Greek characters in most places, but here and there some curious hybrid letters are discoverable.
This is one of the oldest and most valuable of the extant MSS. of Priscian.
- 140 PSALTERIUM CUM GLOSSIS, folio, MS. ON VELLUM, 224 leaves, written in double columns; hf. bd. About 1270 32 0
A grand MS. containing the text of the Psalter written in very large and bold letters with the Gloss in small thirteenth-century writing between each section. Besides innumerable large initials painted and floreated in red and blue, with occasional grotesque decoration, there are eight very large initials splendidly illuminated on a burnished gold ground, some of them in the interlaced style, as for instance the great B of the Beatus vir. There is also a small picture of King David painted in gold within the initial C of the prologue.
At the end of the last Gloss (on the Lauds) is an inscription: Finito Xpe rex libro, sit benedictus.
That the thirteenth century was considerably advanced we see from the frequency of certain forms; the small final s, the t beginning to break through its tranverse bar, the d without an upright.

The work of Quintilian is the "Declamationes" which are usually ascribed to him without certainty. The life of St. Laurence is probably the metrical narrative written by Marbodius of Rennes at the beginning of the twelfth century.

- A book of great and singular value, in consequence of its numerous variations from the ordinary text,—variations which led Sir Thomas Phillipps to regard it as a paraphrase made by "Thomas of Arundel" from Hampole's original. It is in admirable preservation, and has only lost one leaf, the first of "The Entre" (or introduction).
Thus it begins—

have quite another meaning.

- A curious volume which was described in detail in the Gentleman's Magazine in 1785. The writer's name has not yet been discovered, although there ought to be not much difficulty in ascertaining it. He was in prison at Exeter in 1651 as a royalist, thence conveyed to the Tower where he prepared himself for a death-sentence, afterwards in Holland at Dixmude among Charles II's followers, at Brussels in 1660 whence he started for home to aid in the Restoration. He had a son, G. S., and his sister was married to the son of a nobleman with whom he had been on terms of close friendship, but to whom he found reason to write a letter of reproach which is given here.

- 151 S. GREGORII DIALOGI, etc. 4to. A MS. on vellum, written by various hands, about the end of the Ninth Century; bound in a seventeenth-century parchment cover About A.D. 890-900 60 0 0
- An ancient and valuable text.
 The 108 leaves of which this MS. consists are thus to be described:
 1-13 contain Book I, capp. 13-33.
 14-20 contain Book I, capp. 35 to end.
 21-43 contain Book II complete.
 44-63 contain Book III, capp. 1-49 (in which a life of St. Martin of Campania is portion of the work).
 64-69a contain eleven pages, comprising the end of a life of the same St. Martin, and a Sermo in natale unius confessoris (these do not belong to St. Gregory's work, but form an integral part of the MS., as on the twelfth page Book IV of the Dialogi begins).
 69b-90 contain Book IV, capp. 1-46.

91-96 contain Book IV, capp. 63 to end.

97-108 contain VITA SANCTI SIMONIS monachi . . Antonius exposuit.

The mixture of hands in this MS. is remarkable. Some are close and small, others loose and large; and the number of lines to the page varies from twenty-two to twenty-four. The headings are usually in Rustic capitals but sometimes in bold uncial letters; and the initials are generally ornamental, lacertine and sometimes coloured. At the bottom of the last page of Book I, we read in three lines of uncial capitals INCIPIT LIBER II BEATI GREGORII PAPA . DE VITA BEATI BENEDICTI CONFESSORIS ATQVE ABBATIS. The next page begins with an initial F, a very large letter (150 millimetres), which is full of fine interlaced ornament of the Irish style, and is coloured with red, blue, green, and white.

On the margins of two pages there is a line of musical notes on four lines, with accompanying text; this being in one of the cases the celebrated passage beginning Vt queant laus resonare fibris, out of which the names of the notes in modern music were evolved. The writing appears to be of about the year 1080-1100.

The Life of St. Simeon Stylites at the end is somewhat later than the rest of the book.

This volume is said to have formed part of Pierre Pithou's famous collection of early MSS., towards the close of the sixteenth century.

The fragmentary life of St. Martin of Campania above mentioned is not the same text which appears in the Dialogi, but is probably the one attributed to Petrus Diaconus, interpolated here as supplementary to the one in the text.

Folio, FINE MS. ON VELLUM, 187 leaves, double columns; written in a very handsome style of calligraphy, apparently by more than one hand; with painted initials; bds. About 1150

15 1½

In wonderfully fine preservation; with large margins. Not only is this a fresh and beautiful example of calligraphy; it has likewise considerable value as a rare text. Pope Leo's Epistles belong to the most important section of early Christian literature.

This volume probably formed part of the Pontigny monastic library over seven hundred years ago.

The first leaf contains a poem against Wine, beginning "Littera Pythagore," and ending with:

Vino forma perit, vino corrumpitur ætas,
Vino sæpe suum nescit amica virum.

Which may be rendered:

Wine destroyeth beauty, wine is the bane of the Aging, Scarce the loved one knows her lover in wine disguised.

- 155 SCOTLAND. THE CORRESPONDENCE OF SIR RAUF SADLER with Henry VIII between 1539 and 1543, concerning the events of his two Embassies to the Scottish court . . transcribed from the original State-papers, in 1 vol. folio, neatly written MS., 271 pp.; bound in old English red morocco, with the engraved bookplate of the Earl of Scarborough (about 1720) pasted within the cover About 1720

6 4

A most interesting and important set of documents relating to Scotland immediately before and after the birth of Mary Queen of Scots. It was part of Sadler's commission to endeavour to get possession of the infant, but in this he failed, although he afterwards had her for a time in his keeping when she was Queen Elizabeth's captive.

The value of this careful transcript is considerable, seeing that the edition published by Arthur Clifford and Sir Walter Scott is full of errors.

- Small 8vo. MS. ON VELLUM, written in a fine small Gothic hand; in the original binding (Tournay) about 1300 10 10 (
- The red leather binding (over wooden boards) is a little torn and mended, but is practically perfect. It is stamped all over in small square compartments with fleurs-de-lis, figures of birds, quadrupeds, etc. and may be looked upon as a rare example of monastic binding at the beginning of the fourteenth century.
- There is an inscription at the end of the book in which nothing is now recognisable but "Iste liber" and "Martini," but the style, both of writing and binding, is undeniably Flemish, and when Sir Thomas Phillipps bought it fifty years or more ago he had with it an old description alleging it to be "Ex Abbatia Sancti Martini Tornacensis."
- 158 SENECA. L. ANN. SENECAE TRAGOEDIAE. At end: Finis Anno Domini s 19.1 v Mccccxxii. Small folio, MS. ON PAPER, 220 leaves, well written in Italian Gothic; calf gilt, from the libraries of Drury, Heber, and Sir Thomas Phillipps 1432 5 5 0

- On the margin of page 5 is a birth-record: "1539 Mt. Holmes of the gard born at Lyrpole in Lankashyre." On the margin of page 9: Beware of fals englyshe.
- Margaret Duchesse of Clarence was one of the grand-daughters of Joan Plantagenet (the Fair Maid of Kent). She survived her husband Thomas Duke of Clarence, son of Henry IV (killed in 1421), and died in 1440.

| | The greater part of the book was written between 1624 and 1631 at the same time as the orders and letters were received, and this was evidently intended to be a transcript for official use probably at Bury. Then after an interval of time, when it was found that the men had better be returned to their homes the correspondence was renewed, which brought the whole affair to an end in 1639. | | | |
| | The levy was made by the Earl of Suffolk as Lord-Lieut. of Suffolk, Cambridge, and Dorset in all the three counties; but the volume relates more especially to Suffolk. | | | |

| | Payment of 400,000 gold crowns by the French, surrender by the English of Boulogne to the French, and of certain Scottish fortresses to the Queen of Scotland (little Mary). From the blanks for names of hostages, and for the day of the month in March, 1549, it is evident that this was a transcript from the yet incomplete draft treaty. | | | |

EXTREMELY INTERESTING AND RARE; PROBABLY INDEED UNIQUE. It is one of the copies made by the English secretaries at Bretigny (near Chartres) for the use of the King of England (who here, as may be remarked, drops the title of King of France), and must have been carried back by Edward's officers to London on his return. When it passed out of the archives we cannot know.—About 1550 it belonged to a Londoner: "iste libare constat Robarte Beauschamp drap. de Londris," an inscription to which another has added the words "a teylour." Above this is another inscription "The preyse of the buke is xxvi ob. qa." After this it fell into the hands of Claude (Fauchet), and at a later period of the Abbé de Clapeyron. Of these two names everything except the word Claude has been erased. Their full forms must consequently have been derived from an old description, probably the one to be found in Le Long's Bibliothèque Historique de la France.

The book chiefly consists of three heroic poems (which he calls Idylls). They are followed by another piece entitled "Idyllia: The Distemper, a poeme revised and enlarged." A note by W. Oldys on the last page gives his conclusions from an examination of the book. The Distemper may have been printed; the other poems were certainly never printed.

- 171 TRUTH AND CONSCIENCE, a poem in fourteen twelve-line stanzas, with a refrain; with other pieces, in 1 vol. folio, MS. ON VELLUM, 9 leaves written in black letter, in double columns; hf. bd. About 1480 10 10 0

This is a vigorous and sterling poem which ought to be well known. The first stanza is

Summe maner matere wolde I fayne meve
And I wist these gentyllys all to paye
But for drede of high reprove
I wote not weele what I may saye
If I speke of God or of gostely faye
I drede me of the clerke clere
Of dedys of armys I not maye
And of thes londys lawys I am to lere
If I speke of lordys of high powere
Lyghtely I myghte be undernome
Now at the poore comyns we most enquire Where Trowth and Conscyens ys become.

The book begins with the Latin verse treatise Regimen Salernitarum or Flores Medicinæ. Then follows an English poem in three stanzas on Wisdom, Justice, and Prudence. Then follows the long one of which the first stanza is quoted above; then a prose recipe for Purging; then the old set of rhymes beginning

When lyfe is mosst loued | And deth is mosst hated |
Then deth drawith his drauht | And maketh men nakid |
Erthe out of erthe is wonderly wrouht
Erthe hath geten of erthe dignyte of nouht and so on, down to

That erthe out of erthe to blysse may be brouht.

Then follow two medical recipes in English.

- 172 TURPIN'S CHRONICLE. TURPINUS DEI GRATIA REMENSIS ARCHIEPISCOPUS AC SEDULUS CAROLI MAGNI IMPATORIS IN HYSANIA CONSOCIUS. Leoplando decano Aquisgranensi salutem in Xpo. Small 4to. MS. ON VELLUM, 52 leaves, written in long lines, 22 to each page; the initials coloured; bound in russia, Lord Stuart de Rothesay's arms on the sides About 1290-1300 30 0 0

The handwriting is of great beauty and regularity, all the forms round and clear. The charm of thirteenth-century calligraphy is here in full perfection, and there is no trace of any change in style except the short final s which is general, and the occasional use of a t in which the perpendicular pierces through the horizontal bar. The peculiar form of k (looking more like be, or he, or le than anything else) shews that the letter was a stranger to the scribe.

This famous work, composed about the same time as Geoffrey of Monmouth's British Chronicle, stands in the same relation to the entire cycle of Charlemagne story, as that does to the Arthurian fictions. Greater in its progeny than in itself, it is one of the most important documents in the literary history of France.

- 173 VALERIUS MAXIMUS. Fol. 1: Rubrice ualerij maximi factorum dictorumque memorabilium ad Tiberium Cesarem Incipiunt. Fol. 2 blank. Fol. 3: Urbis Romane exterarumque gentium facta. . . Fol. 87: . . . Finis. Small folio, MS. ON PAPER, in Italian Gothic; parchment binding About 1435 2 10 0

The paper is very strong and fine. The mark is the bull's head bearing a rod surmounted by a cinquefoil, and ending below in a shield above which is a double cross.

- 174 VIRGILII ÆNEIS ET BUCOLICA, sm. folio (4to.), MS. ON PAPER, written in Gothic cursive by an Italian hand; hf. bd. UNCUT About 1420 3 0 0

With many interlineal glosses. The paper has several marks. One of them is two spearheads side by side; another, a rod and cross surmounting a triple hill.

- 175 VIRGIL. Servius Maurus in Virgilii Bucolica, Georgica, Æneida. At end: . . 1467 Finis. Small folio, MS. ON PAPER, written in upright Roman cursive, tending to Italic; vellum binding 1467 5 0 0

- 282 CERVANTES, DON QUIXOTE . . Engraved title: The | History of | Don Qvichote . | The first parte . | Letterpress title (to part II) THE | SECOND | PART OF THE | HISTORY OF THE | Valorous and witty KNIGHT- | ERRANT, | Don Quixote of the Mancha 2 parts in 1 vol. smallest 4to. first edition of Shelton's translation, a very large and fine copy, but having the title of Vol. I discoloured and a line in facsimile, in the original calf binding Edward Blount, 1620 30 0 0

Vol. I: engraved title (I cannot trace the existence of a letterpress title to the 1620 issue of part I), eleven preliminary leaves; pp. 1-572; and two leaves unnumbered. Vol. II: engraved title, letterpress title and seven preliminary leaves, including the Table; pp. 1-504.

This is the second issue of the first edition of part I, which was, until I pointed out the difference, always looked upon as identical with that of 1612. Shelton's name as translator appears only at the end of the dedication of part I, and although the dedication of Vol. II is signed by the bookseller Edward Blount, there is no apparent difference in the style of the volumes, which remain, in spite of all drawbacks, the most natural and spirited English version of Don Quixote. It is curious to observe how much Mr. Watts is indebted to Shelton for idiomatic turns of speech.

| 339 MARTIAL ACHIEVEMENTS (The) of Great Britain and her Allies, from 1799-1815. Impl. 4to., vignette on title, engraved dedication, and 52 plates, the whole being coloured; half red morocco, uncut, rare (? 1817) | 7 | 7 | 0 |
| 340 MILITARY AND NAVAL ANECDOTES of the Armies of GREAT BRITAIN and her Allies, in the War terminating with the Battle of WATERLOO. Folio, 40 coloured plates; half morocco, uncut, rare 1819 | 10 | 0 | 0 |
| In this volume the costume, not only of the English, but also of the Continental armies, is of special importance. Illustrating incidents, rather than general actions, the many figures in the plates are necessarily of a size sufficiently large to properly display the many niceties of the innumerable uniforms represented. | | | |
| 341 MILITARY COSTUME (THE) OF EUROPE; exhibited in a Series of highly-finished Military Figures, in the Uniform of their several Corps, 2 vols. impl. 4to., with 95 (of 97) coloured plates and 28 extra-illustrations, including 12 original drawings (plain and coloured), half morocco, exceedingly rare 1822 | 35 | 0 | 0 |
| Of the earliest colouring, probably the author's own copy, the additional drawings and the plates contained in the book being evidently the work of the same hand. | | | |
| At a time when the acquiring of works on Military Costume amounts almost to a craze, and the least important of books on the subject fetch constantly increasing prices, the judicious collector will turn with intense pleasure to such a work as the above, probably the most comprehensive and the most exact in detail and colouring in existence. | | | |
| Not the least striking feature in this remarkable book is the important period represented, the costume being that of the various European armies after their re-organisation in consequence of the Napoleonic wars. | | | |
| 342 MILITARY INCIDENTS: A coloured Print of a Highland Field Officer on horseback, on duty of the day; three Highland Soldiers on the left, one presenting Arms in the centre, and two officers on the right, meas. 10 inches by 14, framed and glazed (? 1840) | 0 | 10 | 0 |

| This is a subscriber's copy, from the library of the Duke of Gloucester, to whom the book is dedicated, with his bookplate, and contains also 2 large coloured plates by Rowlandson, "the Expedition or Military Fly," and "Sadler's Flying Artillery." | | | |
| 345 SMITH (C. This is a more interesting volume than is usually imagined. First there is "The Description of Elizium;" then follows "Ten sundry Nymphalls," which are a kind of poetical dialogue or pastoral, each headed by a poetical argument; that to the first is as follows:—
"This Nymphall of delights doth treat,
Choice beauties and proportions neat,
Of curious shapes and dainty features,
Described in two most perfect creatures."
And after these follow the "Three Divine Poems." | 10 | 0 | 0 |

- 477 ROBERT, Modèles de Meubles en tous genres, 72 coloured plates—[GUIGUET, Menuiserie], 14 parts, 56 plates engraved by Guiguet—in 1 vol. royal 4to., hf. bd. circa 1840 2 16 0

- CONTENTS:—I, The Cabinet-Maker and Upholsterer's Drawing-Book, 1793.

- This sound working copy is offered a bargain, in consideration of one or two of the plates being either missing or slightly defective.

Galleries of Pictures:

- 479 REYNST CABINET. VARIARUM IMAGINUM a celeberrimis artificibus pictarum cælaturæ elegantissimis tabulis representatæ . . . royal folio, 34 plates, proofs before letters, the Virgin and Child in two states, calf, a beautiful copy Amstelodami, circa, 1650-61 21 0 0
- Excessively rare. When the title-page of this Gallery was engraved (about 1665), the plates had probably been in course of production for fifteen years or more. They are by Jan Lutma, Visscher, Theodor Matham, Van Daalen, Vermeulen, and Falck; and are magnificent specimens of engraving, especially in these brilliant unlettered engravers' proofs. Some of the plates are etched by a peculiar process, called "au maillet" by its inventor, Jan Lutma.
- The Reynst Cabinet, collected by Gerard Reynst, of Amsterdam, partly in England, partly on the Continent, contained some of the rarest and best pictures of the Old Masters.
- 480 STROGANOFF COLLECTION. Collection d'Estampes d'après quelques Tableaux de la Galerie de M. le Comte A. Stroganoff, gravées au trait par des jeunes Artistes de l'Académie des Beaux-Arts à St. Pétersbourg, large folio, many fine plates, hf. bd. St. Pétersbourg, 1835 1 10 0

- 483 GERM (The) Nos. 1-4, all issued, containing contributions by D. G. Rossetti, Woolner and others, 8vo. 4 plates by Holman Hunt, Collinson, Deverell and F. Madox Brown, fine fresh copy in blue morocco extra, gilt tops, uncut, by Riviere (1850) 8 8 0
- This was the organ projected by the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood for promulgating their views in Art and in Literature. Only four numbers had been issued when it succumbed to an untimely death. Very few copies were printed, and still fewer have survived.

Of the constituent factors of the Missal of St. Augustine's Abbey, Canterbury (MS. c.c.c.c. 270), it is evident, upon careful examination, that the oldest and most important was a Gregorian Sacramentary which must have left Rome before the early years of the seventh century. Such Gregorian Sacramentary was the prototype whence were derived all those portions of the Missal of St. Augustine's which are known to have been in actual use in Rome at the precise date of St. Gregory's mission to the English.

	The above volume, which has been in preparation for some time, is now entirely "passed for Press," and will be issued without fail on November 2nd, 1896. The extreme care with which the work will be produced renders it impossible to guarantee publication on an earlier date.
	The large amount of material which Mr. Welch had at his disposal when he commenced the work was much increased during the past twelve months; the labour involved in preparing this extra matter for Press has been the cause of the volume not having been issued before this. There are many additions of much valuable information not originally contemplated, and the History is brought down to a later date. It will contain over 450 pages of letterpress and illustrations.

	This interesting and curious antiquarian work cost the enterprising publisher more than twenty years of undeviating labour and many thousand pounds. Every rare old Print or Drawing, illustrative of London Topography which he could discover, by the most active and diligent research, was made subservient to his purpose; and of many ancient buildings the Engravings contained in these volumes are now the only known records. What adds considerably to the value of the work, is that the letterpress gives extracts from Parish Registers and Munimental Documents not easily accessible elsewhere.

976	WELSH PSALTER Printed by Bishop Morgan in 1588, a Photographic Facsimile of the, with the title— Psalmau Dafydd or vn cy fieithiad a'r Beibl cyffredin. Anno. 1588 1896	2	12	6
	This very rare Psalter, though recorded in Rowland's Cambrian Bibliography , on the authority of Johnson's Typographia , has remained practically unknown to Welsh Bibliographers.
	The long delay in issuing the facsimile Psalter has been caused by the labour of preparing certain additions to the introductory matter. Two things in particular may be mentioned. A collation of the Psalter with the text of the Psalms as they appear in Dr. Morgan's Bible has been added. An effort has been made to render this as complete as possible; and it will appear that the minor variations between the two issues in respect of spelling, punctuation, etc., are very numerous.

Considerable time was taken up also in the endeavour to obtain a copy of the excessively rare leaf of ERRATA, which was issued with at least some copies of Dr. Morgan's Bible. Hitherto the Editor has found this leaf in only one copy of the Bible, that presented by the Translator himself to the Library of Westminster Abbey. By the kind permission of the authorities at the Abbey, a photograph of these two pages of ERRATA has been taken, and a facsimile will be added to the illustrations in the Psalter.

The whole work has now been sent to Press. The Volume will be issued to Subscribers this year.

| The text of the Four Gospels from the Syriac palimpsest discovered by me in the Convent of St. Katharine on Mount Sinai in 1892, was transcribed by the late Professor Bensly, Mr. J. Rendel Harris, and Mr. F. C. Burkitt during our second visit to Sinai in 1893. A considerable part, however, amounting to nearly a fifth of the whole, was still undeciphered when the transcribers were compelled by the pressure of other duties to leave Sinai. Some of this was recovered by Mr. F. C. Burkitt, whilst the work was going through the press, from fresh photographs which I placed at his disposal, but there was still much which was too faint in the MS. to be thus reproduced. | | | |
| I therefore took a third journey to the Convent during the months of February and March, 1895, in company with my sister, Mrs. James Y. Gibson. My efforts were greatly facilitated by the continued good-will of the monks, and of Archbishop Porphyrios, who was then in residence, and also by the ready help of my sister, who undertook the duty of examining all those points about which doubt had been expressed, either by the transcribers themselves in their notes, or by others. I am therefore in a position to reprint 98 pages hitherto defective in the Syriac edition published by the Syndics of the Cambridge University Press in 1894, with eight pages of smaller addenda .— Preface . | | | |

| This book appears to us a very useful one. The Author observes that Wilson and Berkeley are out of date, that Hobkirk's synopsis is too compressed to be of great service to the less practised collector, and that Braithwaite's great work is expensive and at present incomplete. There is, therefore, room for a new work on the subject, and the present volume appears to be a very praiseworthy attempt to fill the vacant space.— Nature , September 10th, 1896. | | | |

| Entirely out of print. "Mr. William Morris has at last published his long-promised edition of Chaucer. It is, as everyone knew it would be, quite the most ambitious work issued from the Kelmscott Press, and the chances are that Mr. Morris, in the future, will make no attempt to rival it. Doubtless the book is destined to remain his most important, even if not his finest, achievement as a printer—a fact which gives it a special interest. Judged by his standard, absolutely nothing has been left undone to secure perfection in every detail. It is printed on paper made of linen for the express purpose, and in type—the 'Chaucer type'—designed for it. The illustrations, eighty-six in number, are after original drawings by Sir Edward Burne-Jones, and are engraved by Mr. W. H. Hooper, unquestionably the most accomplished wood engraver in England. Mr. Morris has contributed new borders and initial letters. Almost nine months was devoted to the printing of the 425 paper copies and the thirteen vellum. Nor has attention been confined solely to the get-up of the book. Care has been taken to make it an authentic Chaucer, doubtful poems, such as 'The Flower and the Leaf' and 'The Cuckoo and the Nightingale,' having been omitted—reserved, it is announced, for a separate volume to appear later on. The new volume has one serious drawback from which the other Kelmscott books, even the 'Troy' and the 'Golden Legend' by comparison, have escaped; it is bulky and heavy beyond endurance; by its proportions better adapted to be chained to the reading desk, in the old fashion, than held in the hand in the new. This is the more provoking because the Constables have shown so successfully that a book may be well printed on good paper, and yet not offend by oppressive weight. In the second place, the Chaucer is printed in Gothic type, which it is a task rather than a pleasure to read. Mr. Morris's Roman type is not only more beautiful, but more eligible, and one could wish he had used it here, as he has for the Shakespeare Sonnets and so many other volumes, though it might have seemed less in character. However, the book is unquestionably the Chaucer—at least for those who can afford to pay for it."—The Collector, New York, September 15th, 1896. | | |

| | "The Vertebrate Fauna of the Moray Basin," by Messrs. Harvie-Brown and Buckley, is the latest addition to the series, being issued by them on the Vertebrate Fauna of Scotland. They have already given us the Vertebrate Fauna of Sutherland, Caithness, and West Cromarty; of the Outer Hebrides; of the Orkney Islands; and of Argyll and the Inner Hebrides. When we get, as we are promised before long, that of West Ross and Skye, and of Shetland and Dee, the northern parts of Scotland, so far as the section of its fauna with which our authors concern themselves, will be complete. The area dealt with in the present volume is extensive, embracing "all the country drained by the rivers flowing into the Moray Firth . . . including the greater part of Sutherland, Ross, Inverness . . . Banff, Moray and Nairn." | | | |
| | In addition to the palæontological plates, and several of nests and nesting-places of birds, excellently reproduced by process, these volumes are embellished by a number of exquisite photogravures (by Annan, of Glasgow) of scenery in the Moray region interesting to the naturalist.— Nature , September 10th, 1896. | | | |

Completion of the SHAKSPEARE QUARTO FACSIMILES,

WITH INTRODUCTIONS, LINE-NUMBERS, ETC., BY SHAKSPEARE SCHOLARS, ISSUED UNDER THE SUPERINTENDENCE OF DR. F. J. FURNIVALL, Camb., founder and director of the New Shakspeare Society, by Messrs. W.
GRIGGS, and C. PRAETORIUS, 43 vols. small 4to. hf. bd. £12. 12s 1885-91

Separate volumes, with the exception of the fifth, are sold at 10s 6d each.

Every genuine student of Shakspeare has always desired to own those Quartos of his Master's Plays and Poems which are the necessary foundations of the Text of so many of his greatest productions in the first three periods of his work. Not only in importance next to the FIRST FOLIO, but even above it, for some Plays, and for all the Poems, stand the first or second QUARTOS, from which, or completed copies of which, certain Plays in that Folio were printed; and every true and faithful worker at Shakspeare's text must want to have in his own hand, under his own eye, and as his own, trustworthy facsimiles of these truest representations of the poet's own manuscript. Till now this has been practically impossible. Mr. Ashbee's hand-traced facsimiles, issued by Mr. Halliwell at five guineas each, could be afforded by only some thirty subscribers. But what then cost five guineas, without any information as to the Quartos purchased, will now be buyable, in a new form, for seven shillings, with the addition of a critical Introduction to the text by a competent Shakspeare scholar. It is hoped that all students and lovers of our great poet will at once come forward to support this new scheme, and render its success certain and speedy.

The New Shakspeare Society at first intended to reprint the best Shakspeare Quartos, but has now given up its scheme in favour of its founder Mr. FURNIVALL, who has undertaken to superintend the issue of a series of photo-lithographic Facsimiles of all the most important Shakspeare Quartos, to be executed by Mr. W. GRIGGS, of Elm House, Hanover Street, Peckham, whose long experience as working photo-lithographer to the India Office, enables him to guarantee the entire faithfulness of his reproductions. The Duke of Devonshire, Mr. Alfred H. Huth, the Trustees of the British Museum, the Master and Senior Fellows of Trinity College, Cambridge, and the Curators of the Bodleian Library, Oxford, have most kindly allowed their book-treasures to be photographed.

6. MERRY WIVES. 1602. (T. C. for A. Johnson.) A. H. Huth, Esq. Introduction by P. A. Daniel, Esq.

The greater part of Mr. Griggs' stock and the stones of this volume having been consumed in the fire at his workshop, a reprint has been found necessary to complete sets of the "Quarto Facsimiles." Advantage has been taken of this circumstance to remedy the defects originating in the imperfections of the original copy of the quarto from which the facsimile was made. This one has been taken from Mr. Huth's fine copy.

Mr. Griggs will supply copies of this revised work to the subscribers in exchange for their copies of the first issue.

SHAW'S ILLUSTRATED WORKS ON MEDIÆVAL ART.

The Great Authority on Mediæval Costume, Jewellery, and Goldsmiths' Work.

Dresses and Decorations of the Middle Ages,

From the Seventh to the Seventeenth Centuries, with historical Introduction and descriptive Letter-press, 2 vols. imperial 8vo. 94 very fine plates beautifully coloured by hand, 98 initial letters, printed in colours, containing grotesque ornaments, and with 128 woodcuts (pub. at £7. 7s),

1 volume, hf. red morocco, uncut, £3. 10s

— the same, 2 vols. imperial 4to. Large Paper, 94 large plates, accurately coloured and heightened with gold, 98 illuminated Initials and 128 fine woodcuts, some printed in colours, bds. £12. 12s 1843

This splendid book of Mediæval Costume, one of the best works on the inner life and customs of our rude splendour-loving ancestors, includes Ecclesiastical Costume, Portraits of Historical Celebrities, Allegorical representations, Masques, Tournaments, Games, Religious Ceremonies, Art-workmanship, Weapons, Jewels, the dresses and surroundings of the persons depicted being represented in a gorgeous manner by plates utifully drawn and coloured.

: may be confidently asserted, that no other books will ever be produced again with so much true artistic ing and execution; the more expeditious but slovenly manner of printing such works in colours having ost extinguished the artist illuminator and his careful workmanship.

also, a Special Unique Copy:

Dresses and Decorations of the Middle Ages, from the Seventh to the Seventeenth Centuries, with Historical Descriptions, 2 vols. in 1, impl. 4to. 94 coloured engravings, portraits, ornaments, etc. the Artist's own copy, Unique in the perfection of its Illumination, to which Mr. Shaw gave years of minute labour, which extends even to the initial letters and small ornaments.

und by BEDFORD in red morocco super extra, inlaid and highly gilt, with enamelled clasps and bosses, the edges beautifully decorated with painted scroll-ornaments.

closed in blue morocco case, £105.

1843

The engravings, large and small, amount to 224. One can hardly imagine, without seeing it, what manner result has been achieved by Mr. Shaw's patient labour of love in the re-painting, re-illuminating, and finishing his own chosen copy of the book. In every way this is a superb work of Art.

ONLY TWO COPIES have been illuminated in this sumptuous manner.

Dresses and Decorations of the Middle Ages.
